Experience

WFSU

May 2013—Present

Reporter/Producer. I take stories from pitch to finished product every day. I participate in daily news meetings, edit copy for my colleagues, publish stories online and share them through social media. I regularly train our interns on writing, voicing and production. My work is featured every day on local segments during Morning Edition and All Things Considered, and I occasionally host newscasts when our anchor is unavailable. Each week I contribute a feature-length story for our statewide show Capital Report and my work has been on NPR's newscast multiple times. WFSU has promoted me twice since I began as an intern in 2013.

WVFS

January 2013—May 2013

Volunteer. Participated in weekly news and sports meetings at FSU's college radio station. I helped gather sound, write and voice numerous stories for the station's news segments.

Dr. Marten's

September 2010—July 2012

Store Manager, San Francisco. Managed a staff of eight at the Haight St. store with revenue in excess of $1 million per year. Responsible for scheduling, ordering, and inventory transition. Maintained steady growth in year over year sales. Left to pursue graduate degree at Florida State University.

Education

Florida State University

September 2012—December 2014

MA in Communications. Selected for study abroad program at Erasmus University in Rotterdam, Netherlands. Wrote thesis discussing the copyright implications of Aereo v. ABC et al.

University of California, Santa Cruz

September 2005—January 2008

BA in English Language Literature. Graduated with Honors in the Major.
